

Here's Why We Hold Our Garage Customers

BECAUSE every mechanic in our shop is an expert in his line.

BECAUSE our machinery equipment is admittedly the most complete in the state.

BECAUSE the combination of expert workmen and adequate equipment reduces repair costs to the customer.

BECAUSE we carry a line of supplies and accessories that will meet even the most unusual requirements.

BECAUSE our motto is "Service"—the kind of service that wins public confidence.

What's the Best Short Story in English?

This is the question which was asked twenty-four well known authors not long since, by the New York Times and the answers received were varied but interesting. Tales by Stevenson and Bret Harte get the most votes but Kipling, Poe and Dickens are also leading favorites.

The two stories which received four votes each were Stevenson's "A Legend for the Night," for which Richard Harding Davis, Alfred Henry Lewis, Jack London, and Booth Tarkington cast their ballots; Bret Harte's "Outcasts of Poker Flat," for which Mr. Davis, Wallace Irwin, Owen Johnson and Gouverneur Morris voted.

The following is a list of the authors who voted:

These stories chosen may be found at the Albuquerque public library, and are as follows:

By Robert Lewis Stevenson—A Legend for the Night; The Merry Men; Pavilion on the Links; Will of the Mill; Providence and the Guitar; Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde; Markheim.

By Rudyard Kipling—Without Benefit of Clergy; The Brushwood Boy; The Man Who Would Be King; Bread Upon the Waters; Beyond the Pale; The Mutineer; The Jungle Book.

By Charles Dickens—A Christmas Carol; The Cricket on the Hearth; The Story of Richard Doolittle; Dr. Marriold.

By Edgar Allan Poe—The Gold Bug; The Purloined Letter; The Murders of the Rue Morgue; The Fall of the House of Usher.

By Washington Irving—Wolfert Weiher; Rip Van Winkle.

By Joseph Conrad—Heart of Darkness.

By Irvin Cobb—Belled Buzzard, O. Henry—A Municipal Report.

Thackeray—Robbery and Rowena.

Little Story of Ruth and Naomi.

James—The turn of the Screw.

Hale—The Man Without a Country.

Lytton—The House and the Brain.

Doyle—The Ring and the Troth.

Twain—The Jumping Frog.

Harriet—Uncle Remus.

Aldrich—Marjorie Daw.

Morris—The Claws of the Tiger.

Morris—The Door in the Wall.

CHIHUAHUA MAN SAYS HIS CITY IS A WRECK

Cashier of Banco Monero Going to California for Indefinite Stay; Money Declared Counterfeit.

With his bank closed for more than two months and the building which housed it a wreck, and with the specie held by the bank at time of closing declared illegal tender by General Villa, G. Munoz, cashier of the Banco Monero of Chihuahua, is in Albuquerque today with Frank Sullivan, keeper of the once famous Delmonico cafe in Chihuahua, on the way to California, for an indefinite stay.

"Our city is practically a total wreck," said Mr. Munoz this morning, "and so far as we can see there is no hope of any return of anything like normal conditions for a long time to come. We were forced to leave Chihuahua after closing our bank two months ago. The entire bank force came to El Paso, where we have made our homes since. I am going to California, where I expect to remain indefinitely, as there seems little hope of our being able to return to Chihuahua at any early date."

"The latest confidential reports I received from Chihuahua show that the rebels, having rifled at I looted every public and semi-public building, are now looting private residences and that the city is practically a total wreck. The situation could hardly be worse as affects all northern Mexico."

BLANKET OF FROST SPREADING OVER OHIO VALLEY AND LAKES

Lowest Temperatures of Year Expected in Widespread Storm Over Many Eastern States.

ZERO WEATHER TO LAST SEVERAL DAYS

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.) Washington, Feb. 7.—A cold weather sweeping eastward spread its frosty blanket over the Ohio valley and the upper lake region today with promise of bringing the lowest temperatures of the year.

Storm warnings ordered up all along the Atlantic coast from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Me., heralded the cold wave which by all predictions will be over the Atlantic coast district and the lower lake region by tonight and will stay over Sunday.

Zero temperatures throughout the Missouri valley and the plains states being pushed along eastward are expected to make it very cold and clear for the next two or three days except in the lower lake regions and northern New England, where snows were expected. Generally fair weather was predicted elsewhere.

The weather bureau's little white flag with the black square in the center was fluttering off its silent message "cold wave," from all the stations in the east today.

TEMPERATURE RISING IN THE NORTHWEST

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 7.—Temperatures 10 to 20 degrees higher than yesterday in eastern Washington, Montana, Idaho, and Wyoming indicated today that the cold wave in this section has passed to the interior. Havre, Mont., reported 20 degrees below zero, a rise of 22 degrees in 24 hours.

Zero temperatures prevailed in most parts of Montana. Sheridan, Wyo., showed the greatest rise in temperature. The thermometer there stood 4 above, a rise of 39 degrees.

THREE KILLED IN WRECK CAUSED BY STORM

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 7.—A snow and sleet storm which fell over a large portion of Michigan is held responsible for a railroad wreck near Saginaw, which cost three lives and badly crippled traffic. A Grand Trunk freight train collided with a work train just south of Saginaw in a blinding snow storm. Edward Lewis of Durand, foreman of the work train's crew; Frank Krueger of Flint, brakeman, and an unidentified man were killed.

COLDEST WEATHER OF WINTER IN SIOUX CITY

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 7.—The coldest weather of the winter is being experienced in this section today. The thermometer registered 16 below here this morning. At Mitchell, S. D., it was 25 below.

TRAMP STEAMER FAST ON JERSEY COAST

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.) Manassquan, N. J., Feb. 7.—Off her course in a fog the British tramp steamer Queen Louise went around early today about a quarter of a mile off shore here and the prospects were that she would remain fast until high tide late this afternoon.

As a precaution, the Manassquan life savers shot a breeches buoy line aboard and two boys of the vessel's crew were brought ashore. The others in the crew, numbering about twenty, including the captain, David McDonough, elected to remain aboard.

RINCON ONCE NOTED THIRST STATION NOW DRY

"Who'd a Thought It!" Exclaimed Old Cattle Man Today When He Heard the News from Dona Ana County.

"Well, who'd a thought it!" exclaimed a well known pioneer cattleman of New Mexico this morning, when advised that in yesterday's election practically every precinct in Dona Ana county went "dry," with the exception of the town of Las Cruces, which remained in the "wet" column by a majority of only thirty votes.

"Why I remember the time when Rincon sported twenty-six saloons and the cowboys from a radius of two hundred miles went there to get a drink. And even in these piping days of peace there have been three saloons there with a population of about two hundred people, and every one of them doing a big business. It don't seem possible that Rincon is a dry town."

"Not only is it dry," said a well informed liquor salesman who heard the cattleman's exclamation, "but you can take it from me that every village in this state is going to go into the 'dry' column before very long. I do not mean to refer to the larger towns, but the small communities of two to five hundred people are going to vote 'dry' just as fast as the issue comes up to them."
